

ABSTRACT

A switching device comprising a working shaft (3) and a control shaft (4) installed in a frame part (2), the control shaft being rotatable and adapted to turn the working shaft, and the working shaft (3) being adapted to change the position of poles of the switching device. One (4) of said two shafts (3, 4) passes through the other (3).

(Figure 1)